To; Board Members

From: Tom Buckley

Items for this month's agenda include approving bids for the ag properties. We've had interest but as of yet no one has submitted a bid. Bids are due by Monday afternoon. I'll also have updated information on the Armstrong's trailer that is on the Wilson Lake property and the advice we've received from the county attorney and the DNR.

I'll also let you know the progress on the Lee County Economic Development Group's tulip planting project we are involved with. The planting date is scheduled for October 18th.

Additionally, we'll have updates on Chatfield Lake and the Mooar septic situation and updates on the duck blind building.

One late addition to the agenda, Tri-state Public Radio would like to use the center sometime during the week of October 3-6 for their Issues and Ale Program to discuss the Bond Referendum. As the title describes they would be requesting having beer served at the event.

Let me know if you have any questions before the meeting. See you on Tuesday.
